Twenty Years In Business At One Stand

Charles M. Smith Invites Public to Attend Celebration Monday

Twenty years in business at the same location is the record which will be celebrated Monday, July 1, when Charles Martin Smith, proprietor of Smith's Confectionery, throws open the doors of his remodeled place of business at the corner of Lomita boulevard and Narbonne avenue, Lomita.

Mr. Smith, son of the late J. C. Smith, pioneer real estate dealer who laid out the townsite of Lomita, started in business on this corner in 1915, and has conducted a drug store and confectionery there ever since, giving it his personal supervision except for time out during the World war when he served with the A. E. F.

Due to the widening of Lomita boulevard, Mr. Smith was compelled to remodel his store building, and now has completed this work and has installed a complete new outfit of fixtures, soda fountain and booths. The store now presents a modern, attractive appearance, and has been more conveniently arranged than the old quarters.

Mr. Smith invites all his old patrons and friends to attend the opening. He will serve a free spaghetti dinner to all comers, and entertain them with a big street dance during the evening. Regular dinners, lunches, soft drinks and ice cream, candy, tobacco, beer, wine and mixed drinks will be sold regularly at the new stand, and Mr. Smith will feature prompt, courteous service in a clean up-to-date establishment.

"Mere Man" Suggests Way To Fight High Food Costs

In this day and age, when every woman is sorely vexed at the speed with which food prices are constantly advancing, it takes a lot of nerve for a man to step into the picture and make some constructive suggestions on how she can economize and save money on her food bills. Yet, that is exactly what happened today—and, strangely enough, the suggestions have a great deal of merit.

B. J. Scott of the Torrance Electric Shop, local Westinghouse dealer, is the courageous individual referred to. In a statement today, he said: "The average housewife passes up an awfully good 'cut' toward economizing, by not taking greater advantage of the 'special' prices which prevail on most foods at the 'week-end sales.' I'll grant that everyone buys—but only for their immediate requirements; whereas if they were to buy for the entire week at this time, they could save as much as 10 and 12 percent on their food bills."

Another great potential source of savings, according to Mr. Scott, is through buying in larger quantities—bigger cuts of meat, larger sizes of canned goods, and fruits and vegetables enough to last for a week or more. "In this way," Mr. Scott explained, "you can save another 5 to 10 percent—all of which is mighty important in this day of modest incomes and high food prices."

When asked how a family could safely keep a week's supply of perishable foods without spoiling, Mr. Scott replied: "The new Westinghouse Streamline Refrigerator will keep foods for more than a week without spoiling... in the hottest weather... and, at a cost of only a few cents a day. Moreover, the new Westinghouse holds a tremendous amount of food; because the storage space has been worked out by experienced home economists, and the Revolving Shelf and Built-in Food Compartments make every square inch of shelf space instantly accessible and usable."

Mr. Scott submitted figures showing that approximately 20 percent could be saved on food bills by following his complete suggestions. As he put it—"Why, that is more than enough to pay for a new Westinghouse; yet some folks claimed that they couldn't afford to buy an electric refrigerator."

"Were you the pleased customer who purchased a car from C. Fred Kerr last week?"
